

When should my child have their first dental checkup?

Children as young as two years should be taken to the dentist for a first non-threatening 'visit' in order to make them used to the dentist. This will prevent a trip to the dentist becoming a traumatic experience.